GRADUATE TEACHING ASSISTANT
SCHOOL OF BUSINESS, ECONOMICS AND INFORMATICS
LONDON'S EVENING UNIVERSITY
Thank you for expressing an interest in the role of Graduate Teaching Assistant at Birkbeck, University of London. This opportunity comes at an exciting point in Birkbeck’s history, as we approach our 200th anniversary in 2023.

Birkbeck has always occupied a unique niche in the UK Higher Education landscape and we remain different to other institutions to this day: we are a world-class research and teaching institution with a tradition of providing higher education to people in work. Our classes are almost all held in the evening, so our 13,500 students are free to study, work, volunteer or just do their own thing during the day.

Most of Birkbeck’s staff have been working remotely since late March 2020 to maintain the health and safety of staff and students during the COVID-19 pandemic.

We are aiming to return to our campus in Bloomsbury as soon as it is safe to do so but in the meantime, we recreated Birkbeck online, so that students can continue to benefit from our unique learning model of research-led evening teaching and flexible progression routes and study at a world-class, research-intensive university. Students can choose to study at a speed which suits them: completing an undergraduate degree in the evenings over three years full-time or four years part-time; or a Masters’ degree in either one or two years.

With a global reputation for high quality research and teaching, Birkbeck is part of the prestigious University of London. Founded in 1823 to give working Londoners and learners from non-traditional backgrounds the chance of a university education, our mission remains unchanged as we approach our third century.

Historically, our unique teaching model has attracted an extremely diverse student population: 65% of our students are part-time and 35% full-time; 42% are postgraduates and 58% undergraduates; the majority are mature and 41% are from Black and Minority Ethnic backgrounds.

In recent years, Birkbeck’s full-time, three-year undergraduate evening degrees have gained popularity with school leavers. So, although we are known for educating mature learners, we are now more about attitude than age. Our students tend to be hard-working, independent and highly motivated. They are recognised and highly valued by employers for their maturity, independent mindedness, focus and determination. 95% of Birkbeck’s students are in work or further study six months after graduating.

Birkbeck has five academic schools (Law; Arts; Social Sciences, History and Philosophy; Business, Economics and Informatics; and Science), over 40 research centres and a series of professional service departments.

Our campus is in Bloomsbury, the academic heart of London.

No other university represents London as Birkbeck does. Our students are Tube drivers, fund managers, librarians and care workers. They are doctors, lawyers, taxi drivers, full-time parents and even grandparents. Without Birkbeck many of them simply wouldn’t have access to study.

Birkbeck is at the same time a highly international institution, as over 100 different countries are represented within our learning community. Indeed, the latest Times Higher Education (THE) World University rankings place Birkbeck in the top 10% of universities, based on overseas staff, students and research collaborations.

Our research is known for being cross-disciplinary, innovative and socially and politically engaged. Our findings inform public policy; push scientific, medical and technological advances; support and grow the economy; promote culture and the arts; and make a positive difference to society.

Both our alumni and staff tend to be passionate about the role Birkbeck plays in their lives. Many of our students go on to make an impact on business, the economy and society more broadly and our academic community includes important and eminent figures working alongside early career academics.

Birkbeck is a unique, complex institution.

If you choose to join us and your application is successful, I look forward to welcoming you to Birkbeck in due course.

Best of luck with your application.

Professor David Latchman, CBE
Vice-Chancellor of Birkbeck
ABOUT BIRKBECK
In 1823 George Birkbeck founded the London Mechanics’ Institute, an avowedly radical institution with a vision to open up university education to working Londoners. Just under a hundred years later, in 1920, Birkbeck College was incorporated into the University of London. Today, almost 200 years since it was founded, Birkbeck remains true to George’s mission, ‘to ensure the universal dissemination of the blessings of knowledge’.

Birkbeck, University of London, is a world-class research and teaching institution, a vibrant centre of academic engagement and excellence and London’s only specialist provider of evening higher education. Where once we were known solely for our part-time courses and mature students, today we have a wider mix. Of our current cohort of new undergraduates, just under half are from Black and Minority Ethnic backgrounds and over a third qualify for the College’s generous package of financial support for students from lower income backgrounds; students range from school leavers to retired learners, but the largest group consists of working Londoners in their 20s and 30s.

Undergraduates study in the evening for a degree at a pace that suits them, across three, four or six years, with major recent growth coming via the three-year UCAS entry route, which has grown from zero to over 3000 students in the past six years. We are also a major provider of academic and professional postgraduate education, with the sixth largest cohort of home and European postgraduate students in the UK. Like our undergraduate degrees, our Master’s courses are also taught predominantly in the evenings, with one, two and in some areas, three-year pathways, and flexible payment options. We have 13,500 students studying for Certificates of Higher Education, Degrees with Foundation Years, BA/BSc/ and LLB degrees and Master’s degrees across our five schools. We also have hundreds of researchers studying with us and deliver a range of over 180 short courses every year.

But while Birkbeck has its roots firmly in London, we are recognised on a global stage. The Times Higher Education World University rankings 2019 placed Birkbeck among the world’s top 400 universities overall and we are in the top 350 universities in the QS University world rankings. Philosophy and English at Birkbeck are ranked in the world’s top 100 according to QS, whilst History, Psychology and Law are all ranked in the world’s top 150.

Birkbeck’s reputation as a world-class research-intensive institution was cemented by the Research Assessment Framework in 2014. Birkbeck was 30th in the UK for research, with 73% of our research rated ‘world leading’ or ‘internationally excellent’. We are home to over 40 research and specialist institutes and among the awards our research has won in recent years are the Queen’s Anniversary Prize for excellence in higher education at the Centre for Brain Function and Development.

This unique combination of ground-breaking research and innovative teaching provides an inspirational learning experience for our students; we have consistently ranked in the top five in London for teaching and student satisfaction in the National Student Survey.

Birkbeck’s main Bloomsbury campus is in the heart of academic London, home to a number of other universities and colleges of the University of London, including University College London and the School of Oriental and African Studies. We are situated among beautiful, leafy squares in one of the world’s greatest concentrations of libraries, including the British Library and Senate House Library.
ABOUT THE SCHOOL OF BUSINESS, ECONOMICS AND INFORMATICS

The School of Business, Economics and Informatics brings together the College’s business-facing activities, teaching around 5,000 students in its four departments.

For further information about the School, please visit http://www.bbk.ac.uk/business/

The Department of Computer Science and Information Systems (CSIS) is one of four departments in the School. It is a world-class centre of expertise in algorithms, data analytics, data management, experimental data science, knowledge representation, and programme verification. We engage in a broad spectrum of both fundamental and applied research, host two research centres and are a key partner in the recently founded national Institute of Coding (IoC).
